Hold-Up In Arms Proposed

Yugoslav Diplomat Offers His Idea To General Assembly As a First Step

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Koca Popovich, Yugoslav foreign secretary, proposed today that nations agree not to increase their spending on armaments until they can agree on a disarmament program.

He told the U.N. General Assembly that the improved international situation had helped the outlook for disarmament.

Because of this progress, he went on, "we cannot help wondering whether it might not be possible to reach as of now some form of agreement at least not to increase expenditure on armaments and armed forces."

"Is not the very fact that some countries have gone further in this respect, that is, that they have begun reducing their armed forces or their military budgets, evidence in itself that conditions have matured for such a step as this?"

It was the first policy speech here by Yugoslavia since that country and the Soviet Union "normalized" diplomatic relations at meetings of their leaders, including Popovich, in Belgrade last summer.

Popovich cited that step as well as its partnership in the Balkans alliance with Greece and Turkey as its contribution to wider cooperation and lessening tension.

Popovich reiterated his statement last year that the countries of the world had to coexist or face the alternative of general destructive war. But he said the better international situation was putting coexistence problems on a political plane and removing the military and ideological aspects from them.

The United Nations, he said, had already done much for coexistence. "It is the United Nations which has, in a very real sense, helped make the world safe for coexistence," Popovich said.

US Bids for Sale Of Arms to Egypt

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is trying to counter with its own offer a Russian bid to sell arms to Egypt. Such a sale of American weapons would almost surely bring a hot protest from Israel.

The American offer was made on the theory that United States security would be weakened if Russia became an arms supplier to Middle Eastern countries.

Egypt was described as very much interested in the American offer but was reportedly seeking American financial aid to buy the military equipment.

Gunboat With Peron Aboard Awaits Orders

Peron, Aide Ready For Exile; Roundup On In Argentina

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Argentina's fallen dictator Juan Domingo Peron was three miles closer to freedom today but awaited a promised safe conduct from the revolutionary government which overthrew him.

The little Paraguayan gunboat on which Peron had been a refugee for nearly a week pulled away from its Buenos Aires dock late yesterday afternoon. It dropped anchor in the vast Plate River Estuary, three miles offshore and still within Argentine territory.

The Paraguayan Embassy said the gunboat was awaiting delivery of the safe conduct papers, promised by the new government Saturday, before setting out on the 900-mile voyage up the Parana and Paraguay rivers to Asuncion. More than two thirds of the four-day trip is through Argentine territory.

Delivery of the papers was expected at any time. There was no indication that Provisional President Eduardo Lonardi's regime had changed its mind about letting Peron go in accordance with the Latin-American tradition of permitting ousted political leaders to find asylum abroad.

Paraguayan Ambassador Juan Chaves said Peron and his aide Maj. Ignacio Calaceta were the only refugees on the gunboat. Earlier yesterday a pretty young brunette was seen on the ship but it was not known whether she had stayed aboard. One report said she was a friend of Calaceta.

Seeking evidence of fraud, corruption, and illicit funds, the new government sealed safely deposit boxes and limited withdrawals from checking and savings accounts. An army source said Carlos Aloe, one of Peron's closest business associates, and his brother-in-law Valentín had been seized in northern Argentina with satchels filled with 16 million pesos — more than a million dollars. The army source said the Aloes were headed for Paraguay.

Senate Calls In Key Witnesses

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate Civil Service subcommittee investigating the administration's employee security program called key government officials today for questioning about the Wolf Ladejinsky case.

Milan D. Smith, executive assistant to the Secretary of Agriculture Benson, and J. Glen Cassidy, the Agriculture Department's personnel security officer were leadoff witnesses.

Also called were Harold E. Stassen, former director of the Foreign Operations Administration, and Scott McLeod, the State Department's security chief.

Ladejinsky, a Russian-born government land reform expert, received security clearance from the State Department and was employed as an agricultural attaché in Japan. But last December when his job was transferred to the Agriculture Department, his clearance was lifted and he was dismissed.

In the uproar that followed, he was cleared and hired by Stassen's Foreign Operations Administration and assigned to land reform work in Communist-threatened Indo-China. Benson later ordered Ladejinsky's designation as a security risk stricken from Agriculture Department records.

Election Day Held In State

Several Communities Will Decide Issues Ranging From New City Hall to Traffic

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Tomorrow is election day in half a dozen Missouri communities.

On the ballots are city improvements ranging from traffic projects to a new city hall; school improvements; a county park and a city council race.

The biggest variety of issues facing any of the voting groups will be at Columbia where there are nine proposals on the ballot—seven involving the city.

Major proposal of the seven is a $1,250,000 off-street parking project under which bonds would be retired from parking meter revenue.

General obligation measures include a $75,000 proposal to buy right-of-way for an inner and outer belt of streets; $100,000 for a new fire station; $79,000 to buy right-of-way for a second through east-west street; $75,000 for traffic signals; $75,000 for park improvements and $25,000 for library improvements.

The Columbia School District will vote on a $650,000 measure to enlarge two schools, while all of Boone County will vote on a $150,000 bond issue to provide an 800-acre park with a 300-acre fishing lake.

At Chillicothe the voters will decide whether to spend $1,385,000 to improve the municipal power plant. The city now has about $300,000 in the utilities reserve for part of the $1,683,000 project.

Carthage School District voters will decide the fate of a $340,000 bond issue of five proposals to alleviate crowded conditions in the schools. In June, 1954, the voters turned down a $450,000 measure. Last fall another scheduled bond election was cancelled because of unfavorable indications as to the success of the proposal.

A new city hall is at stake in Nevada, where voters will ballot on a $198,000 issue of general obligation bonds to finance the structure.

Voters in R-4 district at Gilman City go to the polls for the sixth time to consider a $210,000 bond issue for an addition and repairs to the present building.

Moberly voters will fill a vacancy on the city council. Candidates are Jasper W. Smith and William G. Talen.

Fulton voters will decide next Friday whether to issue $100,000 in bonds to finance a new swimming pool and modernize an existing one.

Residents Check Harm Done In Albuquerque By a Flash Flood

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP)—Residents today checked damage caused by a flash flood—the ninth of the year—that inundated several sections of the city.

Police said more than 20 houses collapsed and about 100 families were evacuated at the flood's height Saturday night.

There were no casualties, however.

Thunderstorms over the mountains sent the waters pouring down Arroyos into Albuquerque. It was the worst of the nine flash floods the city has undergone.

Several sections of the city were hit. The water receded yesterday.

Strange Hunt Has Dangerous Showdown--

Wild Buffalo Invades Otterville Vicinity, Winds Up Headed for School Lunchrooms

A tinge of the old Wild West struck the Otterville community Sunday night and Monday morning resulting in a buffalo hunt which brought results. A 750-pound wild buffalo was killed about 4 1/2 miles north of Otterville by L. J. "Mutt" Castle and Porter Cole of Otterville at 9:10 a.m.

The hunt ended on the farm of Fritz Helmig, Boonville.

Sunday night the animal a buffalo cow, about four years old, charged the ton-and-a-half pickup truck of John Ehlers who had his five children in it. He was about to outdistance the animal after a chase of three-fourths of a mile and get away safely. When the bison was with 50 feet of the truck, Ehlers said he "sicked" the dogs on it. He then drove to Otterville and reported the incident.

Castle, Cole and a number of Otterville men went to the area with guns to hunt the animal and remained out until about 10:30 and returned to their homes.

John Hickey, Conservation Commission agent at Smithton, was called Sunday night and went to Otterville and participated in the

Pettis County 4-H Activities--

Elinor Van Dyke Wins Blue Ribbon On Achievement Day

Adding to the many laurels she had already gathered, Elinor Van Dyke, South Abell 4-H, won a blue ribbon and placed second in the 4-H dress revue held Saturday in conjunction with the State 4-H Achievement Day. By placing second, Elinor was appointed as alternate delegate in dress revue for the 34th National 4-H Club Congress to be held in Chicago, Nov. 27 - December, 1955.

The other 4-H representatives who attended the Achievement Day scored well. Christine Silsby, Georgetown 4-H, won a red ribbon in very stiff competition in the agricultural engineering demonstrations. Christine was the only girl demonstrating in the tractor maintenance division which in itself was an outstanding achievement.

The food preparation judging team composed of Shirley Tegmeyer, Oak Point 4-H; Joyce Stephens, Longwood 4-H; and Joan Gay Townsend, Tanglebrook 4-H placed third in the state with each girl receiving a blue ribbon. Shirley Tegmeyer led the local team with 54 points out of a possible 60 and placed second high individually. Joyce Stephens placed

Police Will Not Set Trap For Woman If She Returns Baby

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — If the woman who kidnapped baby Robert Marcus a week ago today wants to return him to his crib in Mt. Zion Hospital, police say, there's no trap waiting for her.

That announcement was the latest development in a week of fruitless searching and frustrating dead-end leads.

Reports continue to flow in from people who say they've seen a woman meeting the description of the buxom blond who presumably took the Marcus baby, then only 3 days old, from the Mt. Zion nursery.

The father, Dr. Sanford Marcus, 34, may take his wife Hanna, 29, home from Mt. Zion today. The young mother was so grief stricken she refused food for several days and had to be fed intravenously. But she rallied Saturday after her other two children, 3 and 2 years old, were taken to her bedside.

US Civilians Freed by Red China Today

Five Americans Reach Hong Kong After Long Detention

HONG KONG (AP)—Five American civilians arrived in Hong Kong today after long detention in Red China. Of the 41 whose release the Chinese Communists promised during the talks at Geneva, 14 have now reached freedom.

The five, who arrived from Shanghai aboard two British ships, were:

Dilmus T. Kanady, 36, Houston, Tex.; Robert Howard Parker, 83, a native of Philadelphia; Emma Angelina Barry, 13-year-old daughter of an American father and a white Russian mother; Mrs. Marcella Munsterman Huizer, Wolcott, Ind.; and Eva Stella Dugay, 62, a Carmelite nun from Boston known as Sister Theresa.

Also returned from Red China to Hong Kong today was Roger Devriendt, a Belgian soldier who went over to the Reds five days after the Korean armistice was signed two years ago. He arrived on the daily train from Red Canton.

Kanady, who was imprisoned by the Communists 4 1/2 years on charges of tax evasion and black market operations, was in serious physical condition. He was taken immediately to a hospital. The Communists had operated on him for phlebitis, a circulatory ailment.

The Texan's doctor said he "is very depressed and upset, but there is nothing wrong with him physically." He added that his patient could not be interviewed by newsmen for at least three days.

Kanady was the last of 10 imprisoned Americans the Communists promised at Geneva to free immediately. The other four were among a group of 12 Americans previously denied permission to leave Red China. The Communists said at Geneva no charges had been filed against the 12 and they were free to leave.

The Chinese Reds also promised the "expeditions" release of 19 other American civilians held in China but none in this group has been returned.

Sister Theresa was reported suffering from bronchitis, asthma, arthritis and seasickness.

Wild Buffalo Invades Otterville Vicinity, Winds Up Headed for School Lunchrooms

started out. For more than a mile the animal bulled its way through brush, jumped over logs and plowed through fields. The two men reached an area between the woods and a corn field and along a fence line. They stood there a moment and then heard a noise. Looking up they saw the bison wheel around toward them, take one step forward and both men fired at the same time when the bison was less than 16 feet away. When the animal fell it had charged to within four or five feet of the men.

Castle was using a .30-30 rifle and Cole had a .257 Remington. Castle's jeep truck was driven to the place and the animal was loaded into the back end of it and driven to the Otterville Consolidated school. Here it was laid out on the ground and the school children were permitted to leave their class rooms and see the animal which would soon be on their plates in the school lunchroom.

Word spread around town quickly and a large number of the citizenry went to the school to see the buffalo.

After pictures were taken, it was then hauled away in a pickup truck to the scale house where it was weighed. The truck and buffalo tilted the scale to 4,693 pounds, and then it was taken to Castle's home. The truck was reweighed and it totalled 3,943, making a total weight of the buffalo of 750 pounds.

At Castle's residence the bison was skinned and pulled up to the crossbar of the children's swing, where it was butchered. It is to be given to the Otterville consolidated and the Smithton consolidated schools to be used in their lunchrooms.

It no doubt will be the first time children at these two schools ever had a chance to taste the meat of a real wild buffalo. Some are looking forward to the meal, others are not too sure about it. One child remarked, "I'll try it, but I don't think I'll like it."

Agent Hickey explained a wild animal such as a buffalo, deer or elk when killed must be given to some public or charitable institution. That is the reason the meat was contributed to the two schools.

Physician Believes President's Chance Of Recovery Good

Heart Specialist Is Satisfied That at Present Progress Rate Eisenhower Could Go 2nd Term

DENVER (AP)—Dr. Paul Dudley White said today that barring unforeseen complications, President Eisenhower's prospects for recovery from his heart attack "are reasonably good."

Dr. White was so satisfied with the progress of the President that he left immediately by plane for Boston, where he is recognized as one of the country's top heart specialists.

He told a news conference immediately after a final examination of the President that if Eisenhower's progress continues at its present rate he would be "physically able" to serve a second term.

On the question of whether the President could recover sufficiently to assume the burden of the White House again, the noted physician replied, "Oh, yes, it's up to him."

"If he has a good recovery, as we hope and believe," Dr. White said. He added that he could not go into the President's intentions but that he would be "physically able."

The physician, appearing at the news conference with Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, Eisenhower's personal doctor, and Presidential Secretary James C. Hagerty, said the President has had the normal progress of a person stricken with coronary thrombosis.

"The electrocardiograph this morning shows the usual evolution produced by an interior heart wall infarct."

The 69-year-old Boston expert said, in answer to a question as to when Eisenhower would be able to read documents, "He probably will be able to in 10 days or two weeks." He also said that possibly by that time he could confer with Secretary of State Dulles before the latter goes to the next foreign ministers conference Oct. 27 at Geneva.

He said at one point that even today the President, with whom he talked after the examination, made for the first time outside the oxygen tent, probably felt good enough to play golf today. And he said there was no reason why he could not take up golf again in the event of the hoped-for recovery.

He said the usual time for a complete recovery and the resumption of normal life after an attack no more serious than Eisenhower's was about two months. "He may feel well enough to go the golf links today," Dr. White said.

He said that it was at his insistence that a reference to the President's bowel movement was included in the official bulletin.

The doctor, who has a dry sense of humor, said "the country will be very pleased to know about that" since "it is a bowel-minded country."

He said it was important to note, too, because it was an encouraging sign coming at the height of the reaction to the heart attack. He also said the President has perspired a good deal, which was another hopeful sign.

He declared the fever recorded last yesterday, the President's first since his attack, was expected and it was "just a little fever," which he described as a rectal temperature of 101.4, the equivalent of 100.4 orally. He said the fever went down a little this morning, although it could go up again.

Dr. White said he would have frequent telephone checks with the President's physicians after he returns to Boston, and that he would return to Denver in the event of complications.

The physician pointed out that Eisenhower will be 65 on Oct. 14 and that his attack of coronary thrombosis came about 15 years later than such attacks usually afflict the American male.

Missouri GOP Will Be Hurt Without Ike

Failure of President To Run Again May Bring State Loss

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Several Missouri political leaders of both parties agreed today the Republican chances in Missouri will be hurt if President Eisenhower is unable to run for re-election.

Eisenhower carried the state by a narrow margin of 29,599 votes in the 1952 election although the Democrats scored a clean sweep in all statewide offices at stake in that election. Democratic Gov. Phil M. Donnelly won by a 97,099-vote margin.

All of the political leaders expressed hope the President will have a speedy recovery from the heart attack he suffered Saturday.

"The Republican chances would not be as good without him," said A. D. (Bud) Welsh, Republican National committeeman from Missouri.

"It would be a tough assignment for us to find anyone as great as he is and with as much popular appeal in a short time. However, I believe the Republicans would be able to come up with a good presidential candidate and win the election."

Former Gov. Forrest Smith, a Democrat mentioned as a possible candidate for another term in the governor's office, said "Mr. Eisenhower's popularity has been such that it would be difficult to beat him."

Lawrence K. Roos, who served as St. Louis area campaign manager for Eisenhower three years ago, said "If he is unable to run for a second term, it will bring home more clearly than ever the need for the Republicans to build a strong organization."

"I believe other candidates can be elected, if we work," Roos said. "But Mr. Eisenhower has a tremendous following among independent voters and the Democrats. We would have to find another candidate who could attract these voters."

Mark R. Holloran, Democratic national committeeman from Missouri, said "It is hard to believe they (the Republicans) could find another man who would have the popular appeal Mr. Eisenhower has."

"I believe the Democrats' chances for victory next year would be greatly enhanced if he is not a candidate for re-election."

Perry T. Compton of Montgomery City, GOP state chairman, and Mrs. Estelle Tanner of Jefferson City, GOP national committeewoman, declined to comment on the effect of the president's illness on the political picture in Missouri.

Traffic Fatalities In Missouri Higher

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Traffic accidents killed 27 persons in Missouri last week, bringing the total to 90 for September and 708 for the year so far.

The State Highway Patrol reported today the bloody record was far above the comparable periods a year ago, when the weekly toll was 15, the death count for the first 25 days of September was 63 and the partial count for 1954 was 672.

Four accidents last week accounted for a dozen lives and half those deaths came in one car accidents—plainly the result of excessive speed, driver inattention or both.

Sgt. F. W. Shadwell of the patrol's safety division said Missouri might as well give up trying to carry a safety program to bad drivers.

The only method left, he said, is to arouse safety conscious Missourians to a point of enacting further legislation or enforcing present rules so strictly that the bad driver is banned from the road.

Just Like Mailing A Letter

Sedalians who have had occasion to transact business in Columbia have concluded that city is much worse off than Sedalia with its parking problems. Tuesday Columbians vote on a proposal to do something about it by way of establishing off-street parking areas. If approved the cost will run well above one million dollars.

To lighten the irritation of over-time parking offenders until the problem has eased, Columbia has installed 57 red fine boxes located at the curb in the middle of every block having parking meters and in the municipal and library parking lots.

Some of the citizens over there now say its almost fun to pay for overtime parking — just like mailing a letter addressed "Dear Officer: One dollar enclosed." And no stamp required, just drop it in the box. No traveling to the police station and attempting to find another place to park while you pay your fine. And for strangers, no waste of time trying to find the police station.

These bright red boxes cost $17.50 apiece and are proving their convenience especially to visitors. No doubt these boxes will be kept in service even if Columbia does approve its off-street parking proposal.

There has been no demand for a change in Sedalia's method of paying parking violation fines by mail or direct at the police station where a savings may be effected by payment within an hour of tagging.

As a supplementary convenience for those who prefer to pay the $1 fine, something can be said for Columbia's fine boxes in the middle of the block.

Washington Merry-Go-Round—

'Phone Co. Ranks Next to GM In Capital

WASHINGTON — The ruling of Comptroller General Campbell against the lush $2,400,000,000 10-year contract between the Air Force and the American Telephone and Telegraph Company has put the Eisenhower administration very much on the spot.

Paradoxically, Comptroller General Campbell, who made the ruling, was Ike's personal choice for this key post, having been comptroller of Columbia University when Ike was its president. Campbell was opposed for confirmation by Senate Democrats, but now some of those same Democrats are singing his praises as a non-political let-the-chips-fall-where-they-may public servant.

One thing which has turned up is the fact that the telephone company has now received more contracts and lush deals from the Eisenhower Administration than any other private company except General Motors.

Another development is that Donald Quarles, Secretary of the Air Force succeeding Harold Talbott, is on pension from Western Electric, a Bell Telephone subsidiary, for $10,000 a year. In the opinion of this newspaperman, following a check of the situation, Quarles is not in the same predicament as Harold Talbott and has no conflict-of-interest, though in view of the multi-billion dollar contract given to the telephone company by the Air Force the situation is embarrassing.

Secretary Quarles worked for the Bell Telephone Company most of his life and latterly was vice president of the Western Electric research laboratory. As a result, he now receives a $10,000 pension. However, it is irrevocable and cannot be reduced or cancelled as a result of any official action by him while in the government.

Quarles informed me that he had had nothing to do with the bonanza contract given to the Bell Telephone Company and that all matters pertaining to it were being handled by Defense Secretary Wilson.

Of course an official denial by a public official doesn't necessarily make it true, but this writer, who has been around Washington long enough to know something about denials and denials, is of the conviction that Mr. Quarles was telling the truth. Doubtless, however, a congressional committee will want to dig into this more fully.

A. T. & T. Contracts

Meanwhile here is part of the amazing list of contracts or concessions either given or in the process of negotiation between A. T. & T. and its subsidiaries and the Eisenhower Administration:

1. Secretary of the Interior McKay has already sold some of the telephone lines in the national parks to the telephone company and is negotiating to sell more.

2. The defense department is selling all telephone lines at military posts to the telephone company. More than 25 phone systems have already been auctioned off, with another 175 to be sold.

3. The Civil Aeronautics Board is negotiating to turn over the government's $5,000,000 land lines to the telephone company.

4. The Pentagon has brought backstage pressure on the Justice Department to dismiss its antitrust suit against A. T. & T. This was a suit brought under the Truman Administration to divorce A. T. & T. from Western Electric, which manufactures equipment for the telephone company.

5. The Air Force has signed its contract for $240,000,000 a year whereby the telephone company would build lines to connect Arctic radar posts with southerly defense areas.

MacArthur And Ike

Miffed is a very mild way to describe how the Eisenhower Administration feels toward Gen. Douglas MacArthur these days.

Though Ike and Doug had a falling out in the Philippines shortly before Pearl Harbor, the President has gone out of his way to keep the venerable veteran of the Pacific buttered up and happy, even inviting him down to Washington for lunch on one occasion. Now that is all over. The reason is: MacArthur's visit with Japanese Foreign Minister Shigemitsu.

When Shigemitsu was in Washington he endeavored to persuade the State Department to release all Japanese war criminals. Dulles hedged. He agreed to release 26 minor criminals—not necessarily the others.

But going to MacArthur's sky apartment in the Waldorf Towers in New York immediately thereafter, Shigemitsu was told by MacArthur that the United States should release all Japanese war criminals without any reservation whatsoever.

Whereupon Dulles in Washington nearly hit the ceiling. More important, in Japan the Japanese press headlined the MacArthur statement. It put the Eisenhower Administration in an extremely bad light.

NOTE — When MacArthur was chief of staff Major Eisenhower occupied a desk in his outer office, was with him when he evacuated the bonus army, and wrote some of his best speeches, notably his farewell to the army when he resigned as chief of staff. Eisenhower went with MacArthur to the Philippines to train the Philippine army but was sent home by MacArthur in 1941, as a result of personal differences. This is probably the best break Eisenhower ever got, because had he been in the Philippines on Dec. 7, 1941, he might have been imprisoned for the duration of the war.

The Democratic Needle

Publicly, of course, the Democrats must necessarily assert that they hope President Eisenhower runs again in 1956. You cannot admit that you are incapable of licking the best the opposition can offer.

In the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt's day, Republicans were always telling everybody that they couldn't wait to "take on the champ." But they didn't really mean it, and neither do the Democrats now.

In their hearts they know how tough the President would be to beat, and no politician with any sense of realism wants the test at the polls to be any harder than it must.

The ironic thing is that the way the Democrats are playing it, they might prove to be a considerable factor in Mr. Eisenhower's deciding to have another go.

It is not just that they have taken off the wraps and are attacking the President personally, as wholly responsible for what they consider the damaging acts of his administration.

It is rather that they are goading him with their constant insistence that they alone understand the needs of ordinary citizens and are prepared to do anything about them. Word has it that the President is vastly annoyed at Democratic claims of a monopoly in serving the popular welfare.

This Democratic contention isn't at all new. They've been running against the "special interests" and the "princes of privilege" ever since Mr. Roosevelt's heyday.

The difference is on the other side. Mr. Eisenhower has described himself as conservative in money matters and liberal in the area of human welfare. He is plainly convinced that his administration is executing policies which serve that philosophy.

If the Democrats keep hammering this theme—and such a course would appear almost inevitable—they may find themselves with an angry contender on their hands.

A lot of people, including some quite close to Mr. Eisenhower, suggest that his sense of duty will be the final determinant in his decision to run or not to run.

But more than a few men have gone for a second term partly because they felt impelled to try to prove in a second four years the wisdom and rightness of what they did in the first four years. Pressed hard enough, the President might fall into this category.

Misguided Economy

Sen. George Malone, Nevada Republican, says he thinks we ought to cut down on Voice of America propaganda expenditures because from what he has seen of Russia its people are not likely to revolt against the Communist regime.

It has never been an assumption of our propaganda specialists that the Soviet Union was ready for rebellion. In fact, in our broadcasts and other propaganda efforts not only to Russia but to other Red countries, we have specifically avoided any attempt to incite revolt.

The theory has been that the Red army's control — or its nearness — would foredoom such an uprising to futile bloodshed.

But that does not mean it is futile to try to spread the truth. In some future time the circumstances of power in Communist lands may alter. If and when that happens, those people who are armed with the truth will be better equipped to strike for freedom.

It is our sensible task to help arm them for that moment, no matter how distant it may seem to Senator Malone or anybody else.

Thought for Today

Who gave himself for our sins, that he might deliver us from this present evil world, according to the will of God and our Father. —Galatians 1:4.

There is truth in Jesus which is terrible, as well as truth that is soothing: terrible, for He shall be Judge as well as Saviour; and ye cannot face Him, ye cannot stand before Him, unless ye now give ear to His invitation. —Henry Melville.

The World Today—

Heart Beat Stutters and Politics Tremble

By DON WHITEHEAD

WASHINGTON (AP)—A man's heart beat stutters momentarily—and in those fleeting moments a whole political world is shaken to its foundations.

That is what happened when President Eisenhower suffered a heart attack early Saturday at Denver.

First there was the stunning shock of the news hitting the capital with all its implications. But even in the outpouring of sympathy and prayers for the President's recovery, there was the realization that nothing in politics was quite the same as it had been before those fateful hours between midnight and dawn two days ago.

There was the reluctant acceptance by Republicans of the probability most of them had refused to admit before—that Eisenhower will not be the GOP presidential candidate next year.

And there was the recognition by the Democrats that fate, even in an unwelcome manner, had placed them suddenly in a far stronger position to challenge the Republicans for control of the White House in the 1956 elections. Politics being what they are, both sides must now look at the coming campaign from radically altered points of view. And this much at least is apparent:

The Republicans no longer can count on Eisenhower as a candidate. Neither are they in a position to urge him to run again even if the President should recover completely from this attack. To do so would put the GOP chiefs in the awkward position of asking Eisenhower to undertake a strenuous campaign which conceivably might place more strain on his heart than it could stand.

Up to this point, the Republican chiefs have made all their campaign plans on the assumption that Eisenhower would run. Now these plans must be recast in recognition of the alternative that he will not be available. And there is the likelihood the convention which was to have nominated Eisenhower without opposition will be a battle-ground.

At the moment, Vice President Richard M. Nixon appears to be in the strongest position to bid for the nomination if Eisenhower doesn't run. Nixon is reported by GOP leaders to be highly popular with party organization men throughout the country. But no one claims Nixon can come close to matching Eisenhower's tremendous popularity and vote-getting appeal, or that he might be nominated without a challenge.

As for the Democrats, the things they have feared most in looking toward the 1956 campaign have been Eisenhower's popularity and the thought he would run again. Suddenly there is the strong chance that these great Republican assets cannot be turned against them again.

Intricacies In Government Relief For Disaster Areas

By MAURICE G. BOEHL
Democrat-Capitol
Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON—Will the states flooded by the aftermath of hurricane Diane get the $75 million (later raised to $80 million) which President Eisenhower promised even if it meant recalling Congress?

No one seems to know. The Federal Civil Defense Administration, which has charge of the aid, had only $11.6 million in its pocket at the time the President made his statement so other government agencies were brought into the picture. Chief of these is the Army Engineers which reportedly has some $100 million it can spend if necessary.

At the time of the President's statement at Hartford, Connecticut, on August 23rd, damage estimates for which the Federal Government had legal responsibility to give aid stood at $25 million in Connecticut (later raised to $30 million), Pennsylvania at $25 million, Massachusetts $15 million, New Jersey $5 million and Rhode Island $5 million.

There is no way of accurately computing how much federal aid has been furnished these states. FCDA itself has to date authorized $1 million for aid in each of the states of Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Connecticut, Massachuand $500,000 for New York. In most cases, FCDA says, these funds are to pay for things done between the time the storm hit and several days later when other agencies of the government stepped in to the picture. North Carolina had been authorized $1 million earlier for Hurricane Connie and has been told after Diane and Ione they could have additional funds, if necessary.

The Federal disaster aid program is a complicated set-up. Legally, FCDA is authorized only to provide aid for "emergency repair of public facilities." This means city halls, school houses, and sewers, for instance, but not roads which come under the Bureau of Public Roads. In many cases, emergency repair is not feasible so FCDA estimates what the emergency repair would cost and pays that amount toward permanent repair. FCDA was originally created as a sort of catch-all for federal aid which would not fall under other agencies. Almost each case must be considered separately though and you have other instances of FCDA providing drought relief in Texas through feed distribution, which one might think would be done by the Agriculture Department. The system for getting aid is this: The Governor of the state applies, the FCDA approves, and the President authorizes the money.

FCDA says it has no applications from states for aid outstanding.

It will take months, a FCDA spokesman agreed, before any good estimate of what the federal government is spending for aid can be computed. For instance, FCDA brought from its stockpiles a number of items for emergency use such as tablets for water purification and turbines for power. These will have to be replaced or returned. To date the only money spent which has been reported is the $6.5 million mentioned above.

The total cost of the floods was estimated by the Army Engineers as $1,600,000. They have since announced this figure is being revised downward. The federal government is not responsible for the total loss contrary to what some city officials seem to believe, a FCDA spokesman said.

The government can give aid in other ways, though. The Defense Department has routed over $27 million in defense contracts into the area since the floods occurred. They were not needed this time but Agriculture Department can make surplus foods available for mass feeding. Personal aid—for the individual who has had his house washed away or lost his possessions—is not supplied by the government but mainly by the Red Cross.

What the Army Engineers will spend for aid is still unknown and will be for some time. Therefore, whether or not the Federal Government will fulfill the pledge made by President Eisenhower will not be known for months.

In September, 1778, nearly 500 Indians, led by 12 Tories, appeared, demanding Boone's surrender. The alternative was death.

Boone had sent a messenger for help. To gain time, he asked Blackfish, his Shawnee "father," to "powwow."

To lend the impression the fort was strongly manned, Boone took eight men to the conference. Indians brought 16.

All Coverage Insurance Offered To Pettis Farmers For 1st Time

Albert Newman, Federal Crop Insurance agent for Pettis County pointed out today that 1955 is the first year for all coverage insurance to be offered in Pettis County. Many farmers took advantage of the all-risk insurance program this first year. Newman stated that as harvest time approaches it is plain to be seen that the federal government will pay in losses to those customers that hold policies something over $80,000 for loss due to drought, insects and in a few cases from the over-flow in low lands.

The Federal Crop Insurance adjusters are adjusting losses in Pettis County each day. Those customers with losses will receive their indemnity checks in about six weeks after final adjustment is signed. Newman said that approximately 70 per cent of the losses are due to drought and 30 per cent by insects and other hazards. Newman further stated that "These indemnities do not come up to what a farmer would get from a good crop, but they're mighty big dollars to the fellows whose crops were knocked out by drought, insects or any of the other hazards. They'll go a long way on paying the bills on the next crop."

Pettis County farmers whose wheat crops are not yet covered by a Federal Crop Insurance all-risk policy will have the opportunity to sign up for it until Oct. 8, and have the coverage on their 1956 wheat crop, according to Mr. Newman. Cost of the insurance is very low, and premiums can be paid after the 1956 harvest with out any additional cost. In the case of a loss the premium will be deducted from the loss and the farmer will not be out any cash.

Newman stressed the following statements:

1. Crop insurance is to protect the farmer against the loss of his investment in the crop. Including rain, drought, insects, disease or any other hazard that might cause him to have a loss.

2. It will improve and protect the farmers credit. He can use his Federal Crop policy as security for a loan or to get advanced credit.

3. Stabilizing the farmer's income. When crop loss occurs and a farmer's need is the greatest, insurance places a floor under what he gets back from his cropping efforts.

4. Protection for the farmer's savings in his land and in the bank. Loss of a crop means living off your savings.

5. Protection for landlords that make advances to their tenants.

6. Crop coverage helps stabilize the income of the farm community and trade area. Local businessmen depend upon farmers' incomes for their income.

7. Federal Crop Insurance provides the farmer security like unemployment insurance provides the industrial worker security. The farmer as well as the industrial worker, needs protection for his income.

Newman pointed to the corn program in Pettis County with pride, because it is one of the strong crop insurance programs in Missouri. He also stressed his gratitude to the Federal Crop Insurance adjusters for being so lenient and liberal with Pettis County customers on their adjustments.

The wheat program in Pettis County is growing each year Newman said, but we need many more good farmers in the program for 1956 because all indications point to a great reduction in the yields that farmers may expect. Weather observers, crop forecasters and farmers are pointing to the heavy infestation of insects, drought and the old adage that the pendulum always swings and good years on wheat crops can't last forever. That may be the year that Pettis County farmers would collect in full on their all coverage policy on wheat. Pettis County farmers need the protection on their wheat crops, and we have been blessed with the all-protection coverage offered by the federal government. Only 20 counties in Missouri have the wheat program.

Mr. Newman stated that he and his representatives are very much interested in contacting all wheat growers this year. They want to explain the new program and offer to all growers the opportunity to sign up. The sales period is now in full swing and many wheat farmers are signing up for the protection offered. The deadline for signing up is Oct. 8. After that time it will be impossible to sign up any farmer for 1956 wheat all-risk coverage.

The office of Pettis County Federal Crop Insurance agent Albert Newman is located at 209 1/2 South Ohio in Sedalia.

Farmers interested in the program and desiring an explanation should call at the office in person or telephone number 2832 at Sedalia. Also they will make a personal call on any farmer that writes a card or letter expressing his desire to learn more about the program, according to Newman.

A man and woman will be elected from each township to form the over-all county-wide council. One will serve for one year and the other for a two-year term. Each township group will also elect their own chairman to conduct the election.

The new council is being elected to conform with provisions of the new county extension law passed by the Missouri legislature. The council, according to requirements of the new law, will plan and help develop the extension agricultural program in the county.

All farm people are urged to attend and vote since the law was developed to place direction of the county agent staff program in the hands of a wide group of local people.

GOOD FARMING

in Pettis County

By MERLE VAUGHAN
County Extension Agent

Agricultural Extension Service in Pettis County

With publicity regarding the coming elections (October 3-13) to establish a County Agricultural Extension Council in Pettis County some folks are wanting to know more about the extension service.

The Cooperative Agricultural Extension Service was set up by law through the Smith Lever Act passed by Congress in 1914. Its purpose was to "extend" information from the State University and Experiment Station out to farm people.

At that time Pettis County already had a county agent (the first in the state). He was Sam Jordan and was hired by cooperating city and country groups. We also had the first home agent on record. She was Miss Mildred Hinton.

Needed Sponsoring Group

After passage of the Smith Lever Act it was necessary to have an organized group in the county to sponsor extension work there. The University would hire a county agent and a home agent and put them in a county if there was a local organization to insure local finances, office space and supervision. Actually the extension agents have the rank of instructors and professors at the University but their students are farm men, women and children rather than college boys and girls.

The Pettis county Farm Bureau has sponsored Extension work from the start and for many years that was their main activity in the county. Later they provided blue cross and in the last 10 years have added insurance, fertilizer and various other services.

County Court Cooperating

As the sponsoring group they requested the county court to provide for operating expense of the office. These included rent, office supplies, office secretary's salary, mileage and part of the salary of the assistant agent. Maximums and minimums have been set up by law governing the amount that the court could provide. Pettis has been one of the more fortunate counties in having county courts sympathetic to the Agricultural program of the county. The appropriations have been near the maximum until the maximum was doubled a few years ago. Since then it has been slightly over 50 per cent of the maximum that could be legally appropriated for extension work in the county. This maximum is one dollar per rural family.

New Law Requires Special Sponsoring Group

A law passed by the recent legislature has now made it necessary to set up an independent Council to sponsor Extension work in the county. The reason for the law was that farm folks and the legislature felt there was a tendency for the Extension staff to do most of their planning with members of the sponsoring farm group rather than with all people in the county. Reaches Thousands Annually

The Extension Office is actually big business as far as farm people assisted is concerned. In 1955 there were 600 youngsters enrolled in 30 4-H clubs and 750 women enrolled in 38 home economics clubs. Since Nov. 1, 1954, the extension agents have supervised the testing of 1,257 soil samples for 780 people and many hundred fertilizer and lime recommendations have been made.

Total figures on all activities are not available for 1955 but in 1954, some 534 farm and home visits were made, 303 meetings were held, 3639 individual letters were written and 14,661 copies of 151 different circular letters were mailed. Over 2,172 4-H and other

In your neighborhood, you'll set the pace in egg money earned with Swift's feeds. We know. We've seen the records made last winter by "PACE-SETTER FLOCK-OWNERS." They fed Swift's feeds and kept track of their results. They made money—even on the lowest feed-egg ratio in history!

There was a good reason. Only Swift's feeds contain Calogen.

Calogen is Swift's new energy ingredient—a special blend of fats. It gives every layer a chance to put more of her feed into eggs and less into body maintenance. It does wonders for egg production. Calogen works together with Swift's quality blend of animal and vegetable proteins for a new kind of feeding efficiency.

Problems Arise When Feeder Cattle Moved

Fall, the season when feeder cattle are on the move, is here. And, with the movement of feeder cattle comes a number of problems, says Dr. A. H. Groth, Dean of the School of Veterinary Medicine at the University of Missouri. Within a short time after cattle have been moved, both they and their new owners may have troubles in one or more forms.

There are various reasons for this trouble, Groth says. First, many feeder cattle are raised under range or semi-range conditions and are not exposed to many infectious agents. Second, they have had a minimum contact with man and are not accustomed to handling. And, third, they have lived on feed and water much different from that they get at their new home.

Shipping fever, a term used to cover a wide variety of infections, may develop in feeder cattle after they get to their new home. Symptoms frequently begin with a watery discharge from eyes and nose, a cough may develop, and cattle will refuse feed. Sometimes there are digestive disturbances, the cattle first being constipated followed by diarrhea. Occasionally, there are nervous symptoms that may be confused with rabies.

According to Groth, there are certain steps that can and should be taken by every feeder cattle buyer. Put the cattle in comfortable surroundings, sheltered from wind and rain but not necessarily stabled. Also, feed cattle lightly as most feeder cattle are not used to hay and grain. And, it might be wise to have a veterinarian visit the farm so that he can get acquainted with the cattle and their history. This way he is in a better position to treat them should they become sick.

Pace-Setter Poultrymen Made Money Last Winter

For a four-month period last winter, hundreds of Swift's Pace-Setter Flock-owners kept accurate records. Read their typical experiences even during the lowest feed-egg ratio in history:

"I entered my 550-ben laying flock in Swift's 1954 Pace-Setter Flock Program. At the end of four months in the laying house we still had 525 hens. Fourteen had been culled. Our feed cost was 15.44 per dozen. We sold our eggs at an average of 41.84 per dozen. I believe Calogen, which is added to Swift's Feed formula, was the primary reason for my flock being so successful. I am still on the Swift Feeding Program and recommend Swift's Feeds containing Calogen to others." —Clareta Spoonits Priddy, Texas

"My pullets were laying in full swing at six months of age. My flock did not require any medicine and was healthy all the time. I never had a single blow out. They have been laying now for nine months at the same pace. I feel that your addition of Calogen to Swift's Feeds really produced a healthy bunch for me." —Mrs. H. M. Gerdas Auburn, Nebraska

"I have had no sickness of any kind since I started feeding Swift's Poultry Concentrate with Calogen. The birds stay in good laying condition."

"My flock of 2,100 layers likes the feed better, production remains more uniform during weather changes. My mortality was about 10% less than the same months the previous year."

CLAY'S COMMENTS

We were happy with the large turn out for our Stag Dinner and cattle meeting Wednesday evening.

Mr. Waters' talk proved to be very interesting as well as informative on the subject of feeding cattle, especially that of feeding "STILBESTROL".

This looks like it may be the answer to producing beef at a lower cost by getting larger gains with less feed.

According to the latest experiments cattle gained on the average of 19% more with an average of 11% decrease in feed cost. This was on a 112 day feeding period.

If you have any questions or would like some literature on the feeding of "STILBESTROL", stop by the store and we will be glad to help you.

Clay.

World Series Opener Sets Newcombe Against Yankees

Lefty Ford Goes For Stengel; Odds Even Due to Mantle Injury

NEW YORK (AP)—Don Newcombe, a huge right-hander who won 20 games for Brooklyn, and Whitey Ford, the little 19-game-winning left-hander who helped clinch the American League pennant for New York last Friday, will be the opening game pitchers when the Dodgers and Yankees renew their World Series rivalry in Yankee Stadium Wednesday.

Odds-makers, who earlier had installed the Yankees a slight favorite, now have changed it to a "pick-em" affair because of the injury which threatens to sideline the star Yankee centerfielder during the series.

Neither manager would go beyond his first-game hurler but it was expected that Manager Casey Stengel of the Yanks would name Tommy Byrne, another left-hander, to pitch the second game, also in the stadium. Then, the experts figured, he would come back with his right-handers, Bob Turley, Don Larsen and perhaps Bob Grim, for the three games at Ebbets Field.

Like most managers, Walter Alton of Brooklyn is reluctant to start a southpaw in Brooklyn, so it is likely he will call upon Johnny Podres, a left-hander, in the second game at the stadium and save Billy Loes, Carl Erskine and perhaps Newcombe again for Ebbets Field.

Both clubs were slated to hold a practice session today at home. Tomorrow the Yankees will work out at Ebbets Field and the Dodgers at Yankee Stadium.

Alton was characteristically silent with the series just two days off, but Stengel was bubbling with optimism.

"Brooklyn has a good club too," he said, "but the Yankees always take the series. We have the pitchers to beat them. All of them are well rested and with the exception of Mantle, everyone is rarin' to go."

The Yankees figure to have a psychological advantage over the Dodgers, whom they've whipped in all five previous World Series meetings. In fact, the Dodgers have lost all seven World Series in which they've participated while the Yankees have won 16 of 20.

Mantle, inactive since Sept. 16 when he pulled a leg muscle beating out a punt against Boston, finally got back into action yesterday as a pinch hitter in each game of the double-header against the Red Sox. Although trainer Gus Mauch and Stengel think he'll be ready for the series, Mickey isn't too hopeful.

"I haven't really tested the leg yet," he said, "and I won't test it until tomorrow but I think it's far from being healed. It doesn't hurt when I bat but I don't think I can run on it."

Terps and Notre Dame Upset Grid Pre-Season Pick

By ED CORRIGAN
The Associated Press

Unless they run into unexpected complications, the big, bad Terrapins from the University of Maryland could well glide through to their third unbeaten, untied season in the past five years.

While it's true that Jim Tatam's split T outfit doesn't play as tough a schedule as some of the other top teams, it's equally true that the Terps can beat the best—namely UCLA.

Maryland won victory No. 2 Saturday with a 7-0 decision over the defending Pacific Coast Conference champions. It was their toughest opposition on this year's schedule.

This week, Maryland visits Baylor of the Southwest Conference. Then, on successive weeks, they play Wake Forest, North Carolina, Syracuse, South Carolina, Louisiana State, Clemson and George Washington.

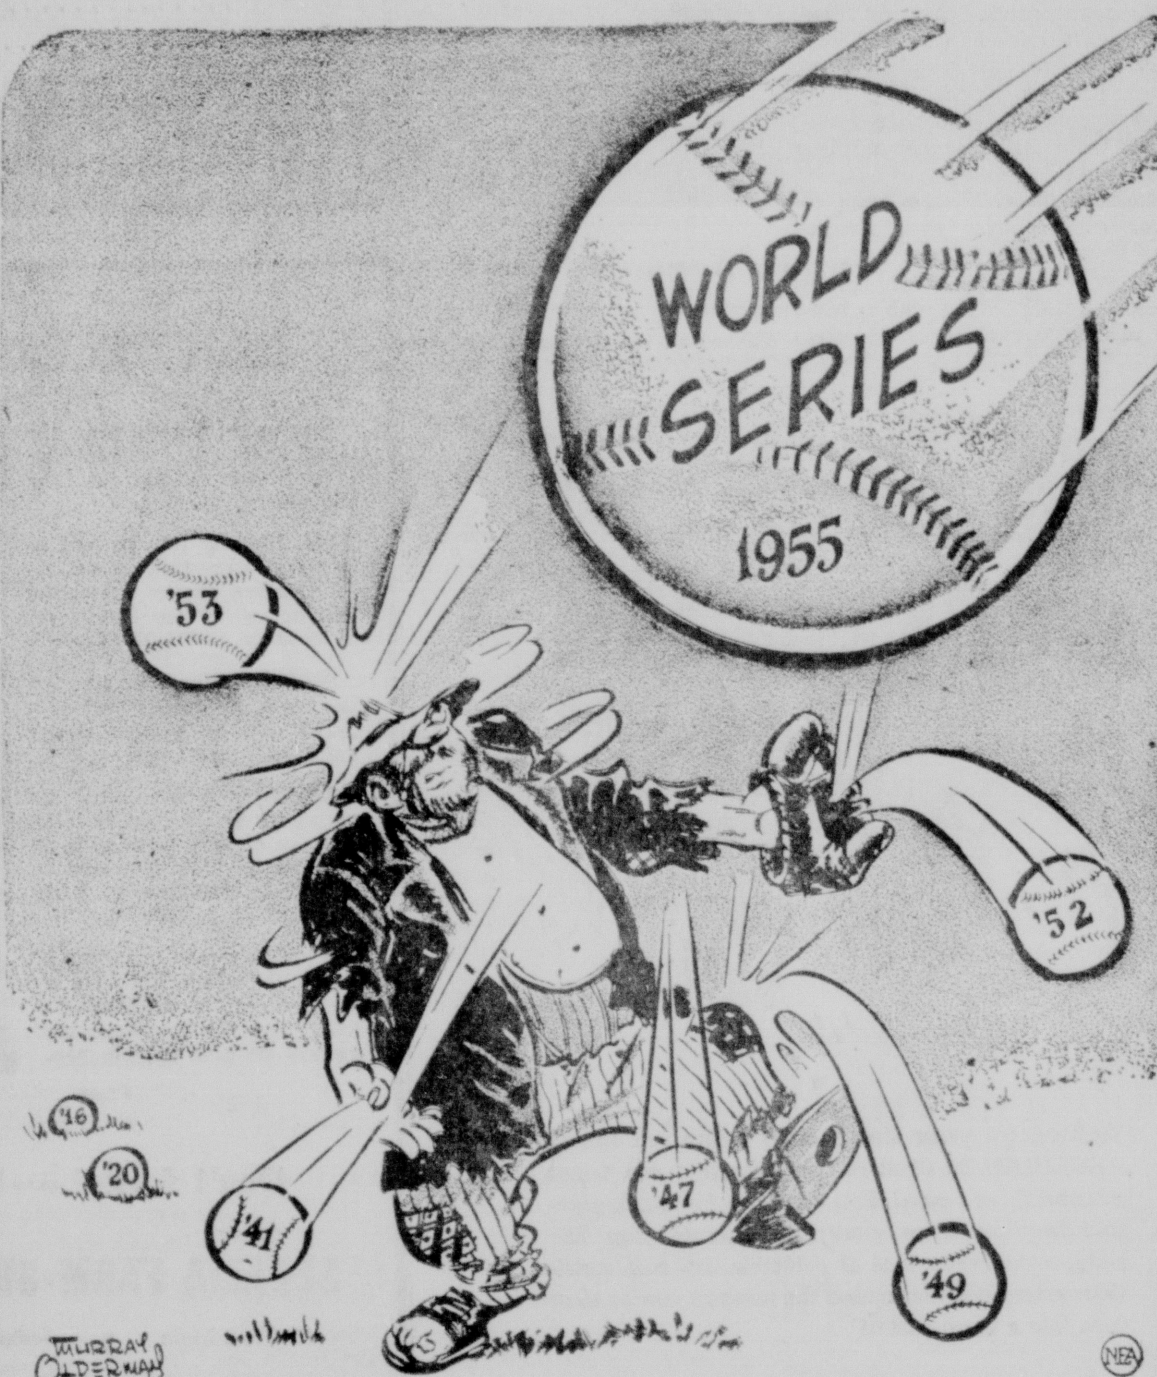

UCLA plays Washington State this week in their first Pacific Coast Conference game. Notre Dame, another club that was overlooked in the preseason estimates, apparently has found someone to fill all America Ralph Guglielmi's shoes. He is Paul Hornung, a fine all-around offensive back. He directed the Irish attack in the 17-0 shutout of Southern Methodist.

Duke appears to be the only team capable of giving Maryland a hassle for the Atlantic Coast Conference championship. The two don't meet, so the title will be decided on what they do against the other teams in the league.

Oklahoma probably will win the Big Seven title as usual. They had trouble with North Carolina before emerging with a 13-6 victory for No. 20 in a row. But even if they are not as strong as usual, the rest of the Big Seven is weaker.

On the subject of streaks, both Kansas and Tulsa snapped losing skids. The Jayhawks held the dubious distinction of bringing a 17-game streak—longest in college football—into the game against Washington State. Kansas won it 13-0. Tulsa, which had lost 15 in a row, whipped Hardin Simmons 41-19.

WILL HE DROP THIS ONE, TOO?

Baseball's Record Book—

Diamond Season Starts and Ends With String of Smashed Records

By ORLO ROBERTSON
The Associated Press

The 1955 major league baseball season started and ended on a record note.

The Brooklyn Dodgers, newly crowned National League champions, started it by reeling off 10 straight victories—a major league high for triumphs at the beginning of a campaign.

And when Wally Moon of the St. Louis Cardinals hammered a home run off Chet Nichols of Milwaukee in the ninth inning yesterday two more records went into the books. It was No. 1,263 by National League batters and 2,224 by hitters of both leagues for new standards.

In between the accomplishment of the Dodgers and Moon's feat, which qualified his record-smashing bat for a place in baseball's Hall of Fame, there were enough other records and highlights to make 1955 one of the most interesting in years.

The Dodgers clinched their pennant on Sept. 8, the earliest date in history. And the New York Yankees pulled away in the final week after one of the closest battles in years.

Brooklyn wound up with a 13½ game advantage over the second-place Milwaukee Braves with the New York Giants, 1954 winners, another five games back. The Yanks beat the American League's defending titleholders, Cleveland Indians, by three games.

Without any attempt to evaluate the importance of the performances, here are some of the other highlights of the year:

PITCHING

Don Newcombe (20-5), Dodgers, and Robin Roberts (23-14), Phillies, were only 20-game winners in either league. Roberts won 20 or more games for sixth consecutive year.

Herb Score, Cleveland, broke Grover Alexander's 1911 rookie record by striking out 211, including 16 Red Sox (high for the year) in one game.

Sam Jones, Cubs, hurled only no-hitter of season. Pirates were the victims.

BATTING

Ernie Banks, Cubs broke record for shortstops with 44 homers and his five grand slam homers also was a new major league mark.

Bobby Hofman, Giants—His nine pinch home runs tied Cy Williams' mark.

Willie Mays, Giants, and Duke Snider, Dodgers—Mays' 51 homers tied New York's record and Snider's 42 matched his own Brooklyn mark.

Al Kaline, Tigers, tied Ty Cobb as youngest player ever to win American League batting title. Kaline, 20, hit .340.

Newcombe's seven home runs broke a hitting record by a pitcher.

To look at the final day's games one would think, the pennant depended on every pitch.

Of the 10 games yesterday, there were three shutouts, two one-run performances the three two-run games.

The Dodgers, warming up their hurlers for the World Series opening Wednesday, used Johnny Podres, Russ Meyer, Clem Labine and Roger Craig in shutting out the Pirates 4-0.

Art Fowler of Cincinnati checked the Cubs with four hits while his mates slapped around three Chicago pitchers for a 13-0 decision. Billy Pierce of the White Sox limited the Athletics to three hits in a 5-0 triumph.

George Susce of the Red Sox defeated the Yankees 8-1 in the second game of a double-header after the American League champions had won the opener 9-2 with Bob Turley, Bob Grim and Johnny Kucks sharing the mound duties.

The Giants beat the Phillies 5-2 with Mays hitting his 51st homer and then dropped a 3-1 decision as they were checked by Curt Simmons and Jack Meyer.

Bob Miller, who beat the Indians in an all-important game during the week, turned the trick again as the Tigers wound up with a 6-2 victory over Cleveland.

In other action the Cardinals beat the Milwaukee Braves 8-5 and the Baltimore Orioles edged Washington 5-4.

added three birdies to finish the round in a fine 68.

Art Wall Jr., of Pocono Manor, Pa., and the half way mark leader Fred Haas of New Orleans were deadlocked after 54 holes with 209s. Cary Middlecoff of Memphis, Tenn., the non-practicing dentist, was one stroke behind them.

Countryview Golf Tourney Held Sunday

Golfers of Central Missouri Participate In 27-Hole Play

The annual Sedalia Countryview golf tournament held Sunday for Central Missouri golfers boasted no losers as all 58 entrants in the tourney were awarded prizes for their day's efforts. Jack Wilt, the Countryview champion, won the tournament championship with a 27-hole score of 35-36-36—107 over the par 36 layout.

The tourney was divided into five flights of: Championship, A, B, C, and D, with the winner in each flight receiving a large trophy. Following are the winners and the runner-ups in each class, respectively, with their 27-hole scores: Championship flight — Wilt, 107, and Francis Hagen of Columbia, 109.

"A" flight — George Scott, 111, and Dr. Zale Zalo, 112.

"B" flight — Mr. Hargrave, 118 and Mr. Barbee, 119.

"C" flight — Junior Morris, 127 and C. Holt, 128.

"D" flight — Mr. Kitchell, 144 and Virgil Herrick, 146.

Wilt and Dr. Zalo tied for the nine-hole medalist honors as each carried a 35 during the 27-hole affair. Each received a merchandise award.

Second place and below in each flight received merchandise prizes with the player finishing highest in each flight receiving the most valuable prizes. The merchandise varied from men's shirts and slacks to beautiful electric lamps or cameras.

Which flight each player was to be placed in was determined by qualifying scores turned in at the end of the first nine holes of the tourney.

This was the second season that George Thomasetti, Countryview manager and tournament director, has held the sand-greens tourney. Golfers from all over Central Missouri competed here Sunday.

Pro Grid Rating Finds Top Teams An Unhappy Last

By RIP WATSON
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The National Football League standings looked strange today with Cleveland and Detroit, the league's bully boys for three years, on the bottom looking up.

One game doesn't make a season, of course, even in the NFL, where they play only a dozen games a season. But both titans had long winning streaks over their opponents smashed as the Washington Redskins whipped Cleveland 27-17 and Green Bay nipped Detroit 20-17 on a pass from Tobin Rote to Gary Knefelc with 20 seconds to go.

Opening day was a day of surprises all around as Baltimore, sparked by rookie Alan (the horse) Ameche, spoiled the heralded return to power of the Chicago Bears with a 23-17 victory and Los Angeles forced four big breaks to trim their arch-rivals the San Francisco 49ers, 23-14.

Philadelphia, undefeated in six pre-season exhibitions, had to come from behind Saturday night to down the New York Giants, 27-17.

The Chicago Cardinals and Pittsburgh Steelers open their seasons at Pittsburgh tonight.

Until little Eddie Le Baron started cutting capers yesterday, Washington had never beaten the Browns since Cleveland came into the NFL back in 1950. Little Eddie, standing 5-8 and weighing only 168, outclassed the famous Otto Graham and Graham's son, George Ratterman, as the 'Skins ended a string of nine Cleveland successes.

Le Baron, back from a year's sojourn in Canadian ball, passed for two touchdowns, set up a third with his passing and scored the fourth himself.

Cards' Finish Is Worst In Club History

Athletics End Year With 5-0 Defeat By Chisox' Billy Pierce

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A winning surge at the close of the season, climaxed by Wally Moon's three-run game-winning home run, came too late to save the St. Louis Cardinals from their worst finish in 36 years—seventh place.

The Kansas City Athletics, experimenting with rookies and recent purchases from the minors, closed with a losing spell but Lou Boudreau's men already were assured of a good sixth place finish. They had been an almost unanimous choice for last place before the season.

The A's 5-0 shutout at the hands of lefty Billy Pierce of the Chicago White Sox yesterday at Chicago gave them a 63-91 record, best since Bobby Shantz pitched them into fourth place in 1952 with his 24-7 record.

Moon's two-out drive over the pavilion roof yesterday at St. Louis lifted the Redbirds to an 8-5 victory over the Milwaukee Braves. It gave them 11 victories in their closing 16 games but with 68-86 the Cards wound up 3½ games back of the Chicago Cubs. The Braves and Cards split 11-11 for the year.

Moon for the second straight year hit the National League's final homer of the season. This one was hit No. 1,263 in the league this season—an all-time major league record. Moon's bat will be sent to the Hall of Fame.

A crowd of 9,940 brought the Cardinals season attendance to 849,130, an 18 per cent drop from last season's 1,021,285. The club was sixth in 1954.

Stan Musial, playing his 618th straight game, longest streak in the majors, hit his 33rd homer and finished with 108 runs batted in and a .319 average.

Pierce, the major league's No. 1 man in earned run average with 1.95, was at his best, holding the A's to three hits. He struck out 12, raising his career strikeout figure to 1,007, recorded his sixth shutout and 15th victory of the season.

Vic Power, the American League's No. 2 batter at 319, was the only man to reach second against the clever White Sox lefty.

Haney Not Angry At Pirate Boot

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Fred Haney, fired as manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, says he hopes to continue in baseball, isn't angry at Pirate General Manager Branch Rickey and has done the best he could to make a winning team out of the hapless Pirates.

Haney was in a genial mood today as he prepared to leave for the World Series in New York — and perhaps learn if he can hook on with another major league club. Philosophically accepting his dismissal by Rickey yesterday — he found out about it in a letter from the Mahatma — Haney declared:

"I'm leaving Pittsburgh with a clear conscience. I tried to give 100 per cent to the club and if my best wasn't good enough, that's it. I guess. But I have no hard feelings against anyone. . . . If I was running the club and wanted to make a change, that's what I'd do. Mr. Rickey apparently wanted to make a change and that's it. I want to emphasize I have no hard feelings against him or anyone else."

As for his future, Haney said he will be on the lookout for a baseball job, take in the World Series, return to Pittsburgh to wind up his affairs "and then go home to Los Angeles to rest awhile."

Polly Riley Captures Women's Golf Tourney

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—A little Texan who has refused to turn professional because of fear of losing her love for the game today reigned as a three-time champion of the Women's Trans-Mississippi Golf Tournament.

No other player than Polly Riley, the short-statured but sure-hitting Fort Worth competitor, could fit that description.

Polly, by her own words, reached the peak of her game by beating Mary Ann Downey of Baltimore 11 and 9 in the scheduled 36-hole windup of the Trans-Mississippi tourney at the Twin Hills Country Golf Assn.'s silver anniversary tourney at the Twin Hills Country Club.

The 5-foot swinger toured the 6,370-yard par 37-37-74 course in one stroke over par for 27 holes in her conquest of Miss Downey, the current eastern golf queen and 1951 Trans titleholder.

Young Tops In Osage Archery Meet Sunday

A husband and wife team came off with top honors in the annual Osage Bowman's Club championship shoot Sunday. LeRoy Young, 1316 East Ninth Street, took first place in the Expert Class and his wife, Anita Young, grabbed the top honors in the women's division.

Another member of the Young family, Roy Young, father of the Expert champion, placed first in the Bowman class.

The shoot, which took place at the Osage Bowman range southeast of the waterworks, was apparently dominated by exhibitions of family accuracy. Mr. and Mrs. Junior Pirtle, 905 East 11th Street, walked away with second place in the Expert Class and fourth place in the Women's Class, and Mrs. Edna Butcher and her son, Clyde, placed in the women's and boy's classes.

Twenty-two members participated in the shoot, which started at 9:30 a. m. and continued through the day.

Winners in the various men's classes: Men's Expert — Le Roy Young, 699; Junior Pirtle, 596; Men's Bowman Class—Roy Young, 443; Dick Younger, 390. Men's Archer Class — Bob Bishop, 301; Charles Butler, 281.

Other division winners were: Women's Division — Anita Young, 509; Edna Earle Butcher, 265; Edie Williams, 222; Flossie Pirtle, 208. Boy's Intermediate (12 to 16 years) — Shelby Pirtle, 450; Clyde Butcher, Jr. 234.

Work is now underway on an indoor archery range, to be used during the winter.

The next meeting of the club is scheduled for Oct. 18. Anyone interested in joining the club may get the necessary information by calling LeRoy Young, president, (Telephone 4501-W).

field to lose a 4-0 decision to the Dodgers yesterday, and wind up the year with a 60-94 record. Haney told reporters he had received a letter from Rickey notifying him his contract was being terminated.

At Iowa City it was simply a matter of too much Iowa power. Kansas State made a great goal line stand in the third quarter, holding the Hawks for downs on the one-half yard mark.

An Oklahoma fumble gave North Carolina its touchdown. Quarterback Jim Harris dropped the ball in his own end zone and tackle John Bilich covered for the Tarheels. Oklahoma moved inside Carolina's 30-yard line five times in the first half, but lost the ball three times on fumbles. Halfbacks Bob Burris and Tommy McDonald scored the Oklahoma touchdowns.

Miss Doris Stott Combines Business With Busy Life of Civic and Social Activities

(Ed. Note: This is the second in a series of articles to be presented this week—Business and Professional Women's Week—about outstanding Sedalia BPWC members.)

Miss Doris M. Stott, first vice-president of the Sedalia Business and Professional Women's Club, which means she is also membership chairman, remembers very well what prompted her to join this organization. She was asked to play the piano at one of the club meetings, liked the meeting and very shortly after that became a member. She enjoys the many club activities and the privilege of membership since the club strives to promote the best interests and to elevate the standards of business women.

Doris' work, which entitles her to be a member of the BPWC, is in the office of the Town and Country Shoe Co., and she proudly adds, whose home office is in Sedalia, her home town. She started with the company as secretary to C. W. Mathieson, vice-president, and gradually other duties were taken over. Later she assumed the executive position of supervisor of the order department.

This, says Doris, is a most interesting and challenging job since it involves so many different things. First there is the determining of each of the four factories (Sedalia, Warrensburg, Odessa and Slater) cutting schedules per day—that is, how many pairs of what pattern, and what materials, which is governed by quality of lasts, amount of material available, customers' demand and national advertising deadlines.

Then there is keeping some 750 accounts informed of deliveries as well as their other requests. It is interesting to become acquainted with and talk with all the buyers of the many first class retail stores in the nation, Doris said. Some days, she said, the telephone is kept busy by the buyers.

It is Doris' task, too, to supervise approximately 20 girls in the order department to see that the orders received from customers are processed and channelled properly through the various divisions. "I find the work so very interesting," said Doris, "because there is always a new problem every day, and consequently I learn something new each day. I especially like working for Town and Country because I feel there is no limit to an individual's possibilities with such a company when you put forth your best efforts."

As she has done in her work with Town and Country, Doris has used the same principles in the Business and Professional Women's Club. She has put forth her best efforts at all times, serving whenever and wherever she has been asked to serve during the years she has been a member. Giving of her talent as a musician even before she became a member, she is practically always an accompanist for the group singing the piano every meeting, either as an accompanying soloist. Doris sings, as well, and is always there when needed. She has served as chairman on various committees, and was secretary during the years 1951-52 and 1952-53, and was second vice-president in 1954-55.

"Music is a very definite part of my life," said Doris, who plays not only the piano, but the organ as well. In fact she has two organs at home, a Hammond and an antique pump organ. She loves playing both of them—when she finds time.

She is very much interested in church activities. She is a member of the East Sedalia Baptist Church, where she is organist, and thoroughly enjoys it. She is superintendent of the Young People's Dept. of Sunday School and director of Training Union Dept. She is also Pettis County director of Training Union work. This concerns 20 Baptist churches in Pettis County.

You wouldn't think she had time for anything else, but she does. She is Associate Matron of Sedalia Chapter No. 57, Order of the Eastern Star.

And what does she collect? Well, antiques—and anybody who knows her wouldn't have any trouble guessing what else—earrings.

It wouldn't be Doris without her earrings. She never goes to any dress-up affair, to any party, club meeting, organization meeting, or even to church without her earrings.

They are all colors, all shapes, all sizes—mostly big and the bigger the better.

It is a happy, busy life, that Doris leads, and certainly one that brings her in touch with people and that is something she really likes, she says, meeting and knowing people.

Crime Trend In US Starts to Drop

WASHINGTON (AP)—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover says 1955 "may show a long overdue break in the upward crime trend of the past seven years."

Hoover reported a slight drop—of 0.7 per cent—in the number of major crimes committed in the first half of 1955 compared with the corresponding period last year.

The drop was so slight, however, that he said 1955 may be "the fourth consecutive year in which more than two million major crimes will have been committed."

Hoover's semiannual "Uniform Crime Reports for the United States" estimated 1,128,350 major crimes reported in the first six months of 1955. This was a drop of 7,790 from the first half of 1954. Murder, robbery and burglary

Missouri, Kansas Had Lower 1954 Income Than National Average

WASHINGTON (AP)—Both Kansas and Missouri last year had per capita incomes lower than the national average, a Commerce Department study released yesterday showed.

But the level is only slightly under the national average—one per cent in Missouri and five per cent in Kansas.

The recently concluded study showed that each man, woman and child in the United States last year would have had $1,770 if the national income were divided evenly. The study showed the Missouri average was $1,747 and the Kansas average $1,669.

decreased while rape and larceny increased.

Although the national average shows a drop of $20 per person from 1953, the Commerce Department said the difference was because the population grew more rapidly than national income—although both increased during the year.

About 400 of each 100,000 U.S. babies born in 1950 will live to see the year 2050, statistics indicate.

Nixon Spends Quiet Sunday Amid Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon went to church yesterday, took his family for a short automobile ride and spent the afternoon visiting friends.

This quiet, typical American way to spend a Sunday occupied most of the day of the man who should President Eisenhower die, would become the next president of the United States.

For the first hours after he learned of Eisenhower's heart attack Saturday afternoon, however, the 42-year-old Nixon kept his whereabouts a mystery. To avoid the flood of telephone calls to his home that were disrupting his communications with Denver and Cabinet members, he said, he remained overnight at the nearby home of Dep. Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers.

Then just before church time yesterday morning, he drove by his two-story, white-painted brick house in fashionable Spring Valley, in suburban Washington, and picked up his wife Patricia and his two daughters, Patricia, 9, and Julie, 7.

The family went to the regular services at nearby Westmoreland Congregational Church.

Afterward, back at his home, he looked grave and weary as he spoke to newsmen.

"The business of the government will go on as usual without any delay" from Eisenhower's "temporary absence," he said.

"I wish to express the concern that I share with all the American people for the early and complete recovery of the President. In comparison to this, all other questions and problems are not worthy of discussion."

Nixon said he plans to remain in Washington "except for what unbreakable commitments I have." He was to have flown to Denver today for a physical fitness conference called by Eisenhower, but the President's illness postponed that.

Nixon also dropped plans for a week's vacation at Sea Island, Ga., starting Wednesday, and he indicated he may cancel some of his speaking engagements. Still undecided is whether he will go through with a planned good will tour of the Middle East starting in November.

Bullet Stays In Heart

EL PASO, Ill. (AP)—Andrew J. Stephens has a .22 caliber bullet lodged in his heart and there is little he can do about it. An examination by a Chicago heart specialist showed that there would be more danger in removing the bullet than in allowing it to remain in his heart muscle.

Stephens was accidentally shot when his cousin, Beulah Wanger, handed him a gun.

Causes and Cures Given For Our 'Civilization Sickness'

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Are you suffering from "civilization sickness?" You probably are if you find yourself getting fatigued without reason, irritated over trifles, and unjustifiably critical of yourself, your friends and members of your own family.

Every culture develops its own typical ailments. The typical ailment of America today is tension and strain, a condition which some theorists believe is the main cause of our growing crop of ulcers, heart attacks, divorces, and other diseases.

But what causes the tension? It isn't the difficulty in solving man's age-old problems of food, clothing and shelter. It really isn't overwork either, in my opinion, nor the result of too much ambition.

The average man isn't overly ambitious. And never in history before has he been able to achieve so comfortable an existence with so little labor.

Then what makes him so weary and cross, so upset and impatient, so afflicted with gray nameless ailments that puzzle his doctor because the doctor probably has them, too, and doesn't know what to call them?

I think that our "civilization sickness" is no more than the penalty of feeling endlessly crowded. We are like a man with a 40-inch waist who insists on wearing a 36-inch belt. No wonder we are unhappy, bilious in temper, and see spots in front of our eyes. They aren't spots—they're people.

Actually, of course, we are more crowded. Our population has leaped from 75 million in 1900 to 165 million in a 55-year period in which millions also have fled the old monotony of farm life for the false glamor of the teeming cities.

But much of our crowdedness is unnecessary. It results from one thing: everybody wants to do the same thing at the same time. They all want to work what used to be called bankers' hours—9 to 5; they all want to play on the same weekend days.

Whatever a man tries to do he finds himself hemmed in by the growing herd.

He goes to and from work standing up in a packed bus because everybody wants to work from Monday to Friday. He finds his night clubs and motion picture theaters jammed on Saturday nights, because that's the night everybody wants to kick up his heels.

On Sundays (unless it's raining) he worships in a thronged church or tries to putt on a golf green that looks like a political convention. Driving to the beach through maddened Sunday traffic he feels like a charioteer in "Ben Hur"; the beach itself resembles Dunkirk just before the evacuation began.

Whatever he does — from awaiting his turn at a luncheon counter to parking his car in a lovers' lane — a man has to wait in line, has to fight for his place. He is elbowed, pushed, and shoved; he elbows, pushes and shoves back. The result: general bickering, confusion, frustration; more acid stomachs, more headaches; and finally more ulcers, heart attacks and apoplexy.

The solution is as simple as it is inexplicable that it already has not been applied: break up the ancient pattern by which men work at the same time, play at the same time.

This can be done by putting civilization on a 7-day week. Why shouldn't offices and factories be manned 16 hours a day, each 8-hour period utilizing half its present staff? This would reduce rush hour traffic, cut down on the parking problem, and make for a general easier tempo in living.

With more people working on Saturday and Sunday, and more of them taking their days off in the middle of the week, the weekend pressure on pleasure resorts would automatically lessen. It shouldn't be too hard to adjust to: a church can be just as inspiring on Thursday as on Sunday. So can a golf course or a beach.

All it takes to give Americans a more leisurely, unhurried, uncrowded life — and cut down on the toll of the "civilization sickness" — is to break with a few outmoded traditions.

How soon we will do it I don't know. But I do know one thing: the only sure way a man can keep a good digestion and a serene disposition today is to run away from home and become a hermit.

Women Recover From Being Lost In Oregon Wilds

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Two women, weak from exhaustion, hunger and thirst, were found by searchers yesterday in the Columbia River gorge wilderness where they disappeared seven days earlier.

Mrs. Avera Ferguson, 53, and her companion Mrs. Bernice Sharkey, 75, both of Portland, maintained they never had been lost.

"I knew where we were," Mrs. Ferguson told rescuers. "I just couldn't get us out of there. But we certainly were not lost."

They were reported missing by their families after they failed to return from a drive to the Larch Mountain area 20 miles east of here.

Last Wednesday their automobile, bogged down in the mud, was found on a side road in the heavily timbered country.

When two sheriff's deputies yesterday came upon the two women, still neatly dressed in the warm clothing they had donned for the ride, their first request was for water. They said they had not had a drink for six days and had been without food for a full week.

Sick Policeman Gets Get-Well Message From Man He Shot

CHICAGO (AP)—Policeman Ray McNally, bedridden and partly paralyzed, received a get well message yesterday from a prison inmate he once shot.

"If it wasn't for you, I would not be living today," the letter read. "I pray to God for your quick recovery."

McNally said he shot the man as he attempted to flee from a police car. He said the prisoner, whose name was not given, was later sentenced to Joliet State Penitentiary for armed robbery.
